My First Book About How Things Grow is the only workbook I could find for a 3 year old to introduce basic plant biology. We intend to use it as part of his geography/science learning time. When a child cannot write yet, stickers are a good way to do workbooks. Though this workbook is not perfect, I am grateful it is on the market for our family.

My First Book by Maeve Binchy - Goodreads

I wrote my first first book over the course of three months, from July 23 to October 23, 1979. Four weeks in, I turned eighteen. This was a novel, and not the first I'd attempted; in fifth grade, I had written forty pages of a saga called Gangwar in Chicago, inspired by The Godfather and taking place in a city where I'd never been.

Here are 10 do's and don'ts for writing your first book: When you write your first novel, do: Plan and structure your book and your time. Writing a book is a mid- to long-term project (unless you are one of those rare authors who can churn a book out in a week or two). If you don't want writing your novel to drag on, planning is essential.
