A look inside New York 's icon of luxury: " Reading [The Hotel] is at least as enjoyable—and certainly less expensive—than staying at the Plaza " (Publishers Weekly). When it opened its doors in 1907, the Plaza was considered the world 's finest luxury hotel. Since then, the grand building at the southern tip of Central Park has hosted kings and queens, the rich and famous, and countless world leaders. And like any hotel, it has seen its share of crimes, suicides, and drunken mayhem as well. A fascinating read for fans of Stephen Birmingham 's Life at the Dakota or Justin Kaplan 's When the Astors Owned New York, this book combines Manhattan history with a guided behind-the-scenes tour, interviewing the hospitality industry employees who tote the luggage, change the light bulbs, and clean the rooms. From a Pulitzer Prize – winning journalist who has written for the New York Times and Rolling Stone, The Hotel offers the kind of day-to-day detail that brings the Fifth Avenue French Renaissance landmark to vivid, colorful life.

A young woman wakes up in a hotel to a mysterious sight: everyone seems to be asleep except for her. Not remembering who she is or what happened, she journeys out into the darkness and finds another like her, a young man. They discover that they both have powers beyond their understanding and are being hunted by a military force. Though, unbeknownst to both parties, a darker and more sinister enemy looms over the horizon. Confused and having no recollection of their past, they must learn to use their newfound powers to survive and find a way to stop this enemy that threatens the entire world.

Set in Guatemala in the mid-Eighties, during a very turbulent historical period, Livingston Unfound is the journey of a woman, Monica, travelling on her own, taking risks and facing dangers, choosing friends and lovers across cultural boundaries, and, above all, struggling to come to terms with the inevitable contradictions that come with being an affluent foreigner in a land of poverty and repression. The journey she sets out on forces her to acknowledge her privilege, while she aspires to see the world with new eyes. As she strives to make close and intimate friends across class, race, and cultural differences, she is confronted by the conflicts that come with being a traveller far from home. Mara Benetti has a degree in Latin American Studies from Essex University and an M.A. in Social Anthropology from Goldsmiths College. She started teaching languages – English, Italian and Spanish – over thirty years ago in a variety of institutions such as Westminster University, Goldsmiths College, Imperial College London, and UCL. Presently, she works at Imperial College and is the author of two language textbooks published by Palgrave and co-translated Woman at War by Dacia Maraini (from Italian into English). Her translation of Gospel according to Mary, a fiction novel by Barbara Alberti (Castelvecchi, 2007) is awaiting publication. She lives in South West London.

The breathtaking scenery of the Pacific Northwest hides a myriad of dark secrets. From sightings of the Columbia River Sea Serpent, nicknamed "Colossal Claude," to tales of Bigfoot encounters dating back to 1865, strange creatures lurk both on land and at sea. Shipwrecks, drownings, shanghaiing, and nautical superstitions abound. The restless settler spirits of those who lived and died on the Oregon Trail are said to linger alongside apparitions of adventurers and soldiers, while others, including the 1920's-era ghost of a woman in white and a man in top hat haunt places like the Columbia Gorge Hotel. Join author Ira Wesley Kitmacher as he takes you on a journey through one of the most haunted regions in America.
